Fair Share & Generosity

How do we define Fair Share? The UUA begins at 2.0% and goes up to 10% of adjusted annual income. Those guidelines are after taxes and some other expenses.

Some prefer the simplicity of dedicating an hour of pay per week to the church. For example, if you commit an hour of pay to our congregation each week, you are sharing about 2.5 percent of annual income.

Earn minimum wage? Your $8 per hour works out to $416 annually. Make $100,000 per year? The UUA Fair Share pledge would be between $2,496 and $10,000 per year. Each family or person self-determines its range of generosity.

If you do pledge 2.0% or more, we appreciate your letting us know, whether or not you decide to be publicly identified as a Fair Share giver.

We are creative in our generosity, and our members often step up as extra needs arise. This year, some members will increase their share, as others must cut back.

As we consider All the Ways We Grow this year -- individually and as a congregation -- know that this shared commitment is a strength in building our church community, and that your generosity is appreciated and celebrated.
