The Covenant:

The members of a Ministry Circle agree to adhere to the following covenant when they join a Circle:

I will attend to my own spiritual life;

I will attend to the spiritual life of the group by helping it be as loving and truthful as I can;

I will play some part in nurturing the spiritual life of the church or larger community through service;

I will hold is strictest confidence any personal information other members share with me;

I will make attendance at group meetings a high priority;

I will welcome new members into the group at appropriate times and I will support the formation of new Ministry Circle groups;

When I feel it is time for me to leave the group, I will attend three final meetings after I have informed the group that I will be leaving.
